Then the Western Allies would hope to hold out in the British Isles, Spain and North Africa until atomic bombs wreck Russia's home front and aid in mounting a crusade to free Europe.

Present odds against the Western land forces are estimated up to nine-to-one by such statements as wartime British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Even once an Atlantic Alliance army of 40-to-50 divisions is created, the odds against the West would be nearly four-to-one, on the basis of existing Russian military strength.

The 40-to-50 division goal was decided on, however, as the maximum which European leaders think can be created without wrecking their economic recovery.

"HOW LONG?"

How long could a western army of this strength hold up a Russian army officially estimated at 175 active divisions?

This question is a current controversy. Research experts of the Royal Institute of International Affairs say 50 to 55 western divisions are the absolute minimum needed to prevent 100 Soviet divisions from over-running Europe. They also say Russia "might deploy 10,000 first-line tactical aircraft against the West in the initial stages of an offensive."

The Atlantic Pact pact calls for about 4,000 Western jet fighters by the end of 1953.

"Bride Riots" In Singapore Fatal to Five

SINGAPORE, Dec. 12 (Tuesday) (CP)—Five persons were known dead and at least 140 were injured as widespread rioting, which flared in Singapore all day Monday, broke out anew early today. Bitter Moslem opposition to a court decision returning "jungle girl" Maria Bertha Herrogh to her Roman Catholic Dutch mother set off the strife.

Moslem mobs, fanned by the tirades of their priests, swarmed through the streets after an overnight lull. They sought to return the 13-year-old girl to her Moslem husband or her Malayan foster-mother.

Police said the death toll was only "preliminary."

The court, in turning the girl over to her mother last week, annulled her marriage to the Moslem school teacher. British authorities Monday night spirited her from a Roman Catholic convent to a secret hiding place, heavily guarded. Moslem rioters Monday night threatened to storm the convent to return the girl to the woman who had raised her for eight years.

Known dead were one R.A.P. officer, two other whites, a Eurasian and an Indian.

Police said the injured included 36 Europeans and Americans.

A.P. correspondent Larry Allen, reported missing for hours after he was seen running from a mob Monday night, was reported admitted to a hospital early today. Extent of his injuries was not immediately known.

Allen's companion, A.P.'s bureau chief Tom Masterson, suffered a broken leg and bodily injuries. The car in which the two newspapermen were riding was burned. An A.P. photographer, George Seow, earlier was dragged from a truck and his camera was smashed.

Mr. Attlee remained quietly at Government House this morning with his pipe and dispatches. At noon he went to the Rideau Club for a luncheon with Mr. St. Laurent, Trade Minister Howe and Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom High Commissioner.

Talks among military men continued throughout the morning. Field Marshal Slim and Defence Minister Cline were with the high officers of the three Canadian services right up to plane time.

"It was a great and valuable experience for us to have him with us," Mr. Claxton said.

REFRESHED, RESTED

Mr. Attlee seemed greatly refreshed and rested when he boarded the huge C-54 four-motored R.C.A.F. plane which took him to Idlewild Airport on Long Island to pick up his own straitcruiser for the Atlantic hop tonight.

When he arrived from New York Saturday he seemed strained and weary. Today he was relaxed and smiling. He plans to be with his Cabinet colleagues tomorrow morning and make a statement in Parliament tomorrow afternoon.

Young Doctor Reports Dramatic Wreck Work

EDMONTON, Dec. 11 (CP)—The dramatic story of how a country doctor teamed up with a group of soldiers in a battle with death after a train wreck on a bleak mountainside was unfolded here today as the Board of Transport Commissioners opened a hearing into the Canoe River train wreck.

Twenty-one persons were fatally injured in the disaster, a head-on collision of a troop train and a passenger train, 312 miles west of here on November 21.

The details of how the survivors labored to aid the injured in heatless train coaches were related in matter-of-fact medical terms by young Dr. P. J. Kimmitt, of Edson, Alberta.

A passenger on the eastbound flyer, he was the only doctor on the scene for three hours and directed the care of more than 30 men—ten of them critically injured—with limited medical equipment and little trained aid.

Dr. Kimmitt said there was no blood plasma on the troop train and none on a relief train which arrived at the wreck from Jasper about three hours after the crash.

The inquiry opened in the Edmonton courthouse before Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, chief commissioner; Armand Sylvestre, deputy chief commissioner; and F. M. McPherson, commissioner.

A. E. Tudale, train dispatcher at Kamloops, B.C., told of relaying a train order by telephone instructing the troop train to meet the passenger (No. 2) at Cedarside, near Canoe River, and another passenger train (No. 4) at Gossnell, 29 miles further west.

Other testimony showed that the passenger train received the order correctly but the order to the troop train omitted the words "at Cedarside."

Bewildered Britons in Korea See No Sign of Red Masses

WITH BRITISH COMMONWEALTH FORCES IN KOREA, Dec. 11 (Reuters)—British troops in North Korea, bewildered by the almost complete lack of enemy pressure against the Eighth Army withdrawing towards the 38th Parallel, have dubbed the Chinese "Mao's Ghost Army."

For the last week, the men of the 27th and 38th Commonwealth Brigades have neither seen nor heard anything of the masses of Chinese troops reported to have poured across the Changcheon River and to be moving south toward the Parallel.

NO SHOTS FIRED

Most of the men of the 29th Brigade, apart from one battalion which saw action against guerrillas earlier this month, have still to fire a shot in anger.

Rushed forward as a blocking force north of Pyongyang when United States forces began to withdraw, they no sooner had dug in and occupied defensive positions than they were ordered to withdraw, without sighting a single Chinese Red.

The 27th Brigade—young veterans of this campaign—have stopped the Communists dead in their tracks each time they have tangled with them. But for the last seven days the 27th has encountered nothing more aggressive than slow-moving convoys jamming highways.

Army Makes Up Division Without One Enlistment

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Without enlisting a single new soldier, the Government today rounded out the formation of enough infantry units for a full division of 15,000 or more men, setting a precedent for peacetime Canada.

It did so by forming third battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment and Royal 22nd Regiment as training battalions of the army's Special Force. Their men will come from the force's reinforcement pool, their officers mainly from the regular force. It was emphasized that "they are being organized purely for training purposes."

THREE BRIGADES

But the move, in effect, gives Canada three brigades of infantry, each with single battalions of the R.C.R., the Royal 22nd and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

They include:

1. The regular force Airborne Brigade, scattered across the country and earmarked for parachute, glider and land attacks against any invader of Canada. It has the 1st Battalions of the three regiments.

2. Five battalions which will train at Fort Lewis, Wash., under Brig. John Rockingham, including 2nd and 3rd Battalions of the R.C.R. and Royal 22nd and the 3rd Battalion of the P.P.C.L.I.

3. The 2nd Battalion of the P.P.C.L.I., now divorced from the Special Force and under United Nations command for service in Korea. It now is on the way.

In addition the army now has two armored or tank regiments and two artillery regiments in addition to varied supporting arms.

Defence Minister Claxton, in announcing the two new battalions, stressed that they "are being organized purely for training purposes."

The men have to have unit training and they couldn't get it in reinforcement pools. Now there are no reinforcements as such. All the men are in units.

There is no apparent intention here to bring into existence an actual infantry division even though enough infantry units now are formed. Officials claim there would be no advantage in that beyond a certain propaganda value.

The three-man board, under County Court Judge Archibald Cochrane of Brampton, Ont., heard evidence of a sharp split on many points between the union and the news organizations in negotiations for their first collective contract.

The guild was certified last Spring as bargaining agency for groups of editorial employees in the companies. The disputants were at issue over wages and such matters as union security, severance pay, job security and grievance procedure. The company expressed its opposition to including in a contract the type of clauses sought by the union on these points.

Sewers, Better Roads Needed, Candidate in Saanich Asserts

Saanich Council is refusing to recognize the fact that the horse and buggy days are gone forever, and that this is a modern era in which good roads, proper drainage and sanitary sewage disposal are necessities, Alexander Kilpatrick, election candidate, declared yesterday.

Stating that a change in the present administration is long overdue, Mr. Kilpatrick asked: "Is it any wonder that the ratepayers of the panhandle look wistfully toward Oak Bay?"

The candidate thinks secession of the old Ward Six is a step in the right direction "because its ideals and problems are altogether different from those in the urban areas of the municipality."

"We have just to glance at the streets and roads of the surrounding municipalities to see the results of good planning and intelligent foresight," asserted Mr. Kilpatrick.

WANTS BETTER ROADS

Referring to the recent road construction by-law, the candidate expressed dissatisfaction with the finished product. He mentioned "gravel on main roads, blocked culverts and surfaces so rough that broken car springs result." Tempers of pedestrians and motorists, he added, are frayed.

"I agree we must have good bus routes, but I claim Saanich taxpayers owning cars and trucks also deserve as much if not more consideration than the B.C. Electric and should have decent secondary roads," said the candidate.

Noting that all Saanich employees are paid the recognized prevailing rates of pay for the type of work they do, Mr. Kilpatrick contended it was the duty of the council to see that the taxpayers who foot the bill get a fair amount of work in return.

SEES OPPORTUNITY

"A wonderful opportunity now exists for a council consisting of people with enough vision and courage to institute a progressive program that will meet with the approval of the ratepayers," declared Mr. Kilpatrick.

ACCIDENT

A car driven by William H. Ley, 1312 Pandora Avenue, ran over the curbing of the Fountain Island early Sunday morning and ended up across the sidewalk on the north side of Gorge Road. City police said Ley suffered a cut shin and was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment. His car was damaged considerably.

Later, Eli Pilgate, Cobble Hill, reported being forced off the road at the circle by another car. "Medium damage" was caused early Sunday morning when cars driven by Ray Jones, 1441 Craigflower Road, and William L. Menzies, 1860 Greatford Place, collided at the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets, police reported.

UNUSUAL TOPIC

"Mountaineering on the Moon" will be the unusual theme of an address by Major E. R. Gibson, who speaks Wednesday night to the Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

The society's informal dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. in Terry Dining Room, corner of Fort and Douglas.

Major Gibson is an active member of the Alpine Club of Canada, as well as the Victoria Centre of the astronomical society.

PETITIONS HEARD

Twenty-six applications for Canadian citizenship were heard yesterday in County Court by Judge H. H. Shandley.

Petitioners included Karl Alfred Breitachmid, German; Leopold Hubin, Belgian; Andrew C. Robertson and Janet Isobel Robertson, American; Nick Shuk, Russian; Clifford Melvin Kaehn, American; George Nyberg, Finnish.

COURSE DATES SET

Mayor Percy George declared yesterday he would recommend that the group of local civil defence planners send a representative to attend the course in civil defence at Camp Borden, Ontario.

The mayor was advised in a letter from R. A. Pennington, head of the British Columbia civil defence committee, that courses would be held at Camp Borden from March 12 to 31 and April 2 to 28.

Mayor George said it was possible the civil defence administrator may be sent to the course when he is appointed.

DAMAGE HEAVY

More than $1,000 damage was caused to three cars in an accident early Sunday morning in the 800 block Craigflower Road. Esquimalt police reported yesterday.

A car driven towards the city on Craigflower Road by John Edward Owen, 1721 Davis Street, police said, was in collision with the rear of a parked car owned by Dickson U. Drive, 813 Douglas Street. The impact forced the rented car into the rear of another parked car owned by Jack Davey, 1129 Esquimalt Road.

Damage to the rented car amounted to about $600, to the Davey car about $150 and the Owen car about $300.

ESQUIMALT COURT

Pound guilty on a charge of assaulting his wife, Peter Frankham, 908 Dunsmuir Road, was given a six-month suspended sentence by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Esquimalt court yesterday.

Frankham was required to post a $100 bond and be on his good behavior.

Sidney T. Anderson, 204 Suzanne Place, was fined $35 when he pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge.

DRILL USED

Burglars used a drill to break into Price's Key Shop, 847 Fort Street, and Clark's Upholstery, 849 Fort Street, over the week-end.

City police said about $12 worth was stolen from the key shop, and nothing has been reported missing from the other store.

An attempt also was made to break into the Irene Carroll Cornet Shop, 803 Fort Street.

Forty cents was stolen over the week-end from Victoria West School.

CONCERT PRESENTED

A concert was presented to residents of the Aged Men's Home last Friday by the local branch of the Army-Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada.

Artists taking part included Bill Anderson and his band, Cecil Boulter, Art Stringer, Tom Obee, George Binnington, Reg Stofor, Tom Crabbe, Stan James, Mrs. Bert Noel and George Farmer.

Members of the entertainment committee which planned the concert were J. Dobbie, W. A. Phillips, P. Olding, and J. W. Carver.

HONEY PRODUCERS

The regular meeting of the British Columbia Honey Producers' Association, Vancouver Island Division, will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Prince Robert House, 912 Douglas Street.

TOP WINNER

A Victoria woman was a top winner at the British Columbia Roller Canary Club competition in Vancouver last week.

Birds owned by Mrs. Walter Cross, 720 Selkirk Avenue, won a first, with 48 points; second, 47 points; third, 47 points; fourth, 44 points, and a novice prize in the old bird class.

All four birds entered by Mrs. Cross were winners.

Victoria Battery Salutes His Majesty

The 14th anniversary of the accession to the throne of His Majesty King George VI was marked at noon yesterday by a 21-gun artillery salute, fired by a detachment of the newly-formed 119th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery stationed at Work Point Barracks. Lieut. O. J. Lester was in charge of the salute.

City Purchaser Seeking Right-Hand-Drive Truck

Most of the time City Purchasing Agent G. F. Sharpe has little trouble in buying the varied and numerous articles required by the city.

But sometimes he is asked to procure a really scarce item and the going gets rough.

Right now Mr. Sharpe is looking for "a second-hand, right-hand drive truck" from one and one-half tons to two tons.

The truck is required by the parks department and it must have a right-hand drive for the convenience of the man employed during the summer to water Victoria's famed hanging flower baskets.

Use of an ordinary truck means that flower basket watering will be a two-man job or that the driver will have to stop and slide over from the left to right hand side of his truck before he can give the flowers a drink.

With the steering wheel on the right hand side of the vehicle the driver could drive and water the baskets without shifting his position.

Mr. Sharpe said that if he is successful in finding the truck he is looking for, a water tank will be mounted on the rear for the parks department.

The many Army trucks of English design which appeared on the civilian market following the war seem to have dropped out of sight, according to Mr. Sharpe.

"I'm looking for somebody who has one for sale at a reasonable price," he declared.

ASKS INTENTIONS

J. McCulloch, regional property manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, yesterday asked City Council to indicate its intentions in the matter of turning over Macaulay emergency shelter camp to the Crown corporation.

He stated Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation early in November had requested such information.

Friends Send Necessities To Refugees

Twenty-one large cartons of clothing, footwear and bedding have been sent to Quaker Centres in Europe from the Friends' Meeting House, 1831 Fern Street, in the city.

There is still an urgent need for clothing and footwear of all kinds among the refugees of France, Germany and Austria. Gifts of clothing, shoes and money to purchase food, petrol, cod liver oil and other necessities, are still being sought by the Quakers.

The Victoria Society of Friends (Quakers) will gladly accept and ship these necessities from local sympathizers. The group meets once a week to sort and mend all contributions.

A box has been placed at 818 Pandora Avenue for contributions. Donations can also be left at headquarters of the society at 1831 Fern Street.

Chambers Plan To Discuss Island Roads

Roads of Vancouver Island—both existent and proposed—will be discussed at a meeting of executive council members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island on January 10. It was reported yesterday by George Warren, managing secretary of the Victoria chamber.

Notices of the meeting have been mailed to all Island chambers of commerce groups, and representatives from each group are expected to attend. The conference probably will be held at the Monterey Restaurant, and will include a luncheon. Starting time for the meeting will be 2 p.m.

H. C. Holmes is president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Warren also announced directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will hold a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel Friday, starting at noon. It will be the last directors' meeting of the year.

Clubs Lose Licences Despite Legality Plea

Cancellation of three Vancouver Chinese club licences will stand despite claims by operators that the type of "fan tan" played on their premises has been upheld as legal by the Court of Appeal.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said he agreed with Mayor Charles Thompson that if these games were permitted to continue, British Columbia could become another Nevada.

EGG MARKET BREAKS

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (INS)—Egg prices broke sharply today on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange after a week of spectacular advances. Wholesale eggs dropped four to seven cents a dozen, with top grades at 68 cents. The peak price last week hit 75 cents a dozen, the highest in 30 years.

It's China's Move, and the World Waits

ALL the talk in the universe will not mop up split milk, or change by one drop the mess that confronts the world now. Good, bad or indifferent, the world situation is as it is; and that, theoretically at least, is so close to a breakdown in international relations that the next move in the dispute may be crucial, one way or the other. What does Red China want? Has she thrown in her lot with the Kremlin all of the way and for keeps; or, looking the other way along the path, is she nervous about the consolidation of her civil war gains in China? It is a question which only her leaders can answer, and until they do very little progress can be made at Lake Success or in the main capitals of the world.

There is no denying the gravity of this situation. Until China defines her position in irrevocable steps what has happened up to the present will remain inconclusive. At the core of the puzzle is the enigma of the Sino-Russian pact. How far did it go? To what degree are Russian and Red Chinese aims the same in the immediate future? The world may not have long to wait for an answer. Soon now it must become clear if the West is facing a Far East Axis, or only a hotter filibuster than was the Berlin blockade of two years ago. No kind of an "axis" would square with Russia's signature on the United Nations' Charter, or Red China's asserted desire to join that organization now; nor is aggression under arms a recognized passport into the deliberations at Lake Success.

Whether one likes it or not, however, the initiative at the moment rests on the far side of the Pacific, and with those whose actions in the past few years have only encouraged the flames in a still-burning world. That is a grim outlook, but talk will not change it. It is China's move now, with peace or war more precariously in the balance than they have been since the days of the Berlin-Rome Axis. With that example in mind, China should choose carefully where it will put its foot next.

Canada Needs a Real Immigration Policy

FOR all its wealth in inanimate natural resources, Canada remains woefully short of the basic resource essential in their development—manpower. Nor is that lack felt only in the peacetime activities that expand the national economy. There is more recently the disturbing admission of a senior member of the Federal Government that there is not enough manpower in the country to defend its borders.

Ever since the end of the war more than five years ago there has been strong public pressure on the Government to bring more people into the Dominion from the overcrowded countries on the other side of the Atlantic. Yet there has been evidence so far of little more than an ineffectual groping for something vaguely resembling an immigration policy. It has brought in new settlers in dribs and drabs, making an almost negligible addition to the population of the Dominion.

Latest reports from Ottawa indicate that the Federal Government now has tentative plans for a minimum inflow of 150,000 persons a year through a "vigorous recruiting policy" in the British Isles and Western Europe. For this the available transportation facilities appear to be quite inadequate. Because of shortage of surface ships, the Government proposes to assist passage by air. Immigrants will be carried by Trans-Canada Air Lines at a fare of $160 a head to them (equivalent to third-class ocean passage), with the Government paying the remaining $383. That is at least an attempt to subsidize the flow, but it will be interesting to see just how many immigrants the airlines will be able to convey in a year.

Even if the Government is able to maintain the minimum it has set, 150,000 immigrants a year as evidence of an immigration policy is little more than a token. In one year before the Great War over 400,000 persons entered Canada, and the average for the decade prior to 1915 was not much less. Since natural increase cannot begin to take care of the requirements of Canada, something approaching the more realistic view taken at the beginning of the century is needed.

It Is Better Left in Its Stockpiles

THOSE who listened to Mr. Atlee speak over the radio on Sunday would be impressed by the obvious sincerity of the British Prime Minister. Here was no ranting leader of aggressive design but a spokesman of quiet peaceful purpose. Anyone less likely to let loose the dogs of war would be hard to imagine. Mr. Atlee made no startling pronouncement, contenting himself with homely words about this country and its relationship to his own.

Nor did the joint Truman-Atlee declaration last week do much other than reaffirm a unity of aim towards the Far East that had seemed of late to be wavering slightly. Undoubtedly Mr. Atlee's visit to Washington had resulted in a definite agreement with regard to the use of the atom bomb, however, so less is likely to be heard on topmost levels about its employment in the present crisis. In fairness to President Truman, nevertheless, the remark that startled the world was forced from him in answer to a question and not advanced as indicative of official American intent.

Our own Mr. Pearson has pointed out truly that while the atom bomb is actually only another weapon and it is war itself that is the true bane of modern existence, public thinking has surrounded this particular instrument of destruction with special revision. Only as a last and reluctant resource would Mr. Pearson favor its use, a sentiment reflecting the bulk of national opinion in this country. Nor would there be anything to gain, but rather much to lose by its employment in the Korean war. While the West is inhibited from using the atom bomb against the actual core of the aggression that now wracks the world, it is better left in its stockpile and none too much said about it either.

ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT?

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THEY are our good friends and neighbors but they're either up on the heights or down in the depths. They're wonderful winners but, alas, terribly sad losers.

Who? The Americans, meaning the U.S. Americans.

Sometimes people write as though Canadians were Americans, but if we are we're North Americans. For if we're just Americans, so are Bolivians and Peruvians. And that's a bit confusing.

Of course it's not pleasant being licked, especially on the field of battle, and the Americans are not used to being licked. Britons and Europeans are, so they take things more calmly.

Whereas, for their part U.S. commentators and columnists go on a splenetic rampage.

There's I.N.S. writer Bob Considine, for instance—I'm not being familiar, that's his byline—whose sparkling phrases you read now and then in this newspaper. He's been directing his barbs at all and sundry.

At Trygve Lie, for one. Mr. Lie gave a dinner at his home the other day for the chief Red Chinese emissary to the United Nations, and Mr. Bob thinks this was a betrayal of the G.I.'s battling desperately in Korea. In fact he doesn't just think it he splutters about it.

Because, says he, the Americans, meaning U.S. Americans, have to pay for this dinner. That's because the U.N. pays Mr. Lie his salary and the U.S. pays 70 per cent of the cost of running the U.N.

Now we give the devil his due so let's give Mr. Lie his. No doubt the Secretary-General was putting in a bit of overtime, socially, trying to bring peace to Korea and thus help the G.I.'s. Anyway the U.S. doesn't pay 70 per cent, she only pays about 40 per cent. True, that's a lot, especially when Russia gets away—goodness knows how—with a measly 6 per cent, but you could say, you know, that America is the only nation that ever made any money out of modern war.

She's given a fortune away since, bless her, but still facts are facts and Mr. Bob should stick to them.

Then there's his sarcasm about what he calls the "grand job" the British and the French have done in Korea—why, he'll have us know, says he, that the British sent all of 1,500 troops and the French a fine gunboat.

(What he thinks about Canada, I don't know—perhaps we made him speechless.)

I feel diffident about mentioning it, but really there are some 7,500 British troops in Korea—and let me whisper it—there are 40,000 of them in Malaya and the French have 100,000 in Indo-China.

Doing what? Fighting Communists—and isn't Communism all of a piece? Yet nobody gets peeved because there isn't a single American soldier on either of these fronts.

And, there's another thing. It's polite now to cover it up but the fact remains that it was the U.S. who jumped into Korea and dragged the rest of us after her. The initiative was commendable, but still there you are—that's the way it was.

And when a nation starts something and then squeals for help as soon as it gets a punch in the nose—well, that's sort of adolescent.

Anyway, Mr. Bob, nobody worth his salt has anything but admiration for the G.I.'s who are bearing the brunt in Korea. They're mighty good chaps.

But hold back your spleen and wipe the dust from your spectacles.

Shinwell and MacArthur

By H. J. J. SARGENT

(North American Newspaper Alliance)

LONDON—People here of all political parties—excepting the Communists—were surprised over the substance of Defence Minister Emmanuel Shinwell's speech declaring that, in his opinion, General Douglas MacArthur had exceeded the objectives decided upon by the United Nations in Korea.

These, according to Shinwell, were that MacArthur's troops were to go up to the 38th parallel and drive the North Koreans back to their own territory.

It was clear that Shinwell was making his assertions in the teeth of a direct contradiction of this charge, made the day before by General MacArthur. It was also clear that criticism of General MacArthur was inevitably a criticism of President Truman, too, since a complete identity of views and policy has been proclaimed between President Truman and the general. Finally, the speech was being delivered almost at the very moment that Prime Minister Clement Attlee was starting his journey across the Atlantic to have his vital conference with President Truman.

In this correspondent's experience of political controversy, cases stand out where ministers have been dismissed or asked to resign for making statements containing a good deal less dynamite than Shinwell's. In so many words, Shinwell blames the United States for the present situation in Korea and charges MacArthur with disobeying orders. He forgets that MacArthur is the Allied commander who at this very moment is trying to save British and American troops from being cut to pieces by overwhelming enemy forces. And he seems to forget that speeches like his may do harm to that unity between the United States and Britain which, when all is said and done, stands between the civilization we understand and the rule of Red Communism.

How Much Would They Learn?

(From The Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

THE American National Association of Travel Organizations has recommended that school children should be given class credits when they travel with adults in sections of the United States unfamiliar to them. The recommendation, made to the United States Department of Education, said that a child that traveled had a better understanding of the country and that this fact should be recognized as education.

Travel generally has a broadening effect on individuals, and children, with their all-consuming interest, might well be expected to derive considerable information and a wider viewpoint from excursions throughout the country. But the suggestion made by the travel organizations is open to objections, one of the most serious being that, admirably as travel supplements the academic work of a child, it can hardly take the place of the courses he misses while he is away.

And if credits are given for travel during vacation periods, it also penalizes the child whose parents are unable to go traveling, but who may learn just as much, in other ways, during Summer months.

From time to time objections arise in this country over modern additions to the curricula of schools, and some are prone to say that the basic essentials—the Three R's—suffer as a result. Nothing so advanced as class credits for travel in Canada has to our knowledge, been suggested. It is not to be expected that it would meet with approval of the educational authorities if it were.

But it is amazing how many alternatives to strict academic work are suggested from time to time. This recent proposal is merely one of the latest. And interesting, though scarcely practical, many will say.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

For its Martinis the Swedish Embassy at Washington uses an olive stuffed with an anchovy. This is hailed by the old rounder as food and drink in correct proportion.

Handed a red apple, the teacher in the school of experience will illustrate a first principle by examining it for worms.

The drunk had taken a cab to the Queen Mary at Southampton. While he was paying the driver the latter remarked: "Big ship, that! If you stood her on end she'd be taller than St. Paul's Cathedral."

"Right-o," said his cheerfully woozy fare. "But you'll have to give me a hand, old chap."

For today's infant life is safer in countless ways. For example, who now could smother the babe in its go-cart with $10 worth of groceries?

Father: "Did you learn anything at school today?"

Willie: "You bet I did! All the other kids get an allowance."

Observation
Car By G. B.

A WOMAN entered a Mesachie Lake grocery store and asked the proprietor: "How much are your grapes?"

He replied they were 10 cents for half a pound. "Why quote the half-pound? Who wants half a pound of grapes?" the customer inquired. "Well, I have acquired the habit of quoting prices by the half-pound since meat is so high. It is not such a shock to customers if I say minced beef is 39 cents for half a pound and steak is 55 cents for the same quantity," the grocer explained. . . . A young Victoria housewife found out how to make pork and beans go a long way. She decided to economize by serving them for dinner, and popped a tin in the oven without punching a hole or two so the steam could escape. About 20 minutes later there was a sudden muffled explosion. The oven door flew off its hinges, and three walls of the kitchen were mottled with beans and juice. . . . For several months a Victoria woman made valiant efforts to drum some politeness into her young son when it gradually dawned upon her that he was far more rude than his playmates. "When you want something you must always say 'please,' and when you do not want anything you must never forget to say 'no thank you,'" she repeated at intervals. One day the woman invited a couple for dinner, and hoped her boy would not do anything to disgrace her. When baked salmon was served, the lad set up a howl and announced that he did not want any. "All right, son, so you do not want any of this nice fish. What do you say?" No, no what? his mother prompted. "No fish," the boy shouted.

Attendance at civic election meetings could be increased if some candidates appeared dressed as Santa Claus and made a lot of fancy promises.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

A FEW days before Christmas is a queer time to bring up the folly of our eating habits. Shortly we will be feasting and stuffing as a matter of sheer celebration.

But it is as good a time as any to reflect upon the fact that man stands as pretty much alone amongst all creatures: he will eat anything.

The nearest things to us in that respect are rats, mice, crows, vultures, condors and a few other members of a rather unflattering company.

But mice will not cheerfully eat onions, and rats draw the line at peppers. A crow would hardly eat banana, and a vulture would turn up its nose at celery.

Man is omnivorous. He will eat meat, like a tiger; and grass or its equivalent, like a cow. He will eat meat a little high, as a bear will; and crack nuts as eagerly as any blue jay or monkey. He rejoices in hay, like an elephant, but calls it cereal, and at the same time will slurp anchovies like a whale. In fact, man will and does eat whale, elephant, monkey, blue jay, bear, cow and doubtless tiger in some of the more backward regions.

What a monstrous little creature man is, when you come to think of him. A regular incinerator.

A cow is a wonderful, tender thing. It eats only grass, clover, weeds, hay and some grain and roots. It converts these humble vultures into luscious beef and pearly fat. A beaver is more gentle and wonderful still. It eats little else than that tender, fragile thing that you find between the bark and the wood of a couple of kinds of trees, chiefly the poplar and the birch. There is only a wisp of layer of this substance. Scraped by your thumb nail, it looks like boiled spinach. Yet on this narrow diet, the beaver rolls in wonderful fat, and grows the most glorious steely-guarded fur in the world.

Maybe man's troubled nature comes of what he eats, poor chap.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—A move to open the whole beer question in British Columbia, on the basis of prices, ingredients, costs of manufacture, and in particular, the agreement between the Amalgamated Brewers and the Liquor Board, has been initiated by Mr. C. F. Davis, Conservative member for Cowichan-Newcastle.

50 YEARS AGO—Major Williams' project to organize a cadet corps for the boys at the High School is progressing very satisfactorily. One or two drills have been held, and when a sufficient number of recruits have been secured, it is hoped that official recognition will be given the company.

85 YEARS AGO—The trail to the Cowichan settlement has been rendered wholly impassable by the numerous trees thrown across it by the recent gale. Both the Maple Bay and Bomenos trails are similarly blocked.

SAANICH ELECTION

Sir,—May I, through your valued columns, make a suggestion to all those in the seceding areas of Saanich to refrain from voting in the coming Saanich elections in fairness to the remaining ratepayers, who could very well be bound by decisions influenced by the voting of ratepayers whose interests probably will be centred in other districts shortly?

TAX CONCESSION

Sir,—Well before election day, shouldn't some definite information be given voters about the meaning of the plebiscite for freedom from taxation requested by the managing committee of the proposed clubroom for the sightless people of Victoria?

Some voters think the plebiscite means that no taxes will be levied on private property for support of this clubroom for the blind.

Others consider that tax-free concessions made to any body of citizens seeking the favor would create a precedent that could not wisely be followed by similar concessions lest the city revenue fall short in consequence.

B.C. FIRE RULES

Sir,—For ten years I have been attending various concerts by famous artists and orchestras at the Royal Victoria Theatre and enjoying them immensely. At the beginning of this season I telephoned for my tickets to hear the local symphony and was informed that the ticket agency would be fined $25 if they sold them to me, because I am in a wheelchair.

I then telephoned the fire chief, who informed me I was an "obstruction" and under no circumstances could I, with my wheelchair, be tolerated in the theatre during these concerts.

An "obstruction" on wheels? I assure you I would, with the aid of my companion, vacate the theatre as fast as the next man—if not faster—in case of emergency. Furthermore, I always sat right next to the exit.

It seems that our zealous fire chief has chosen to put a very discriminatory interpretation on a provincial fire law which was never intended to be so used.

The manager of the theatre has attempted to solve the problem by arranging for me to sit on the stage during the symphony concerts. You can imagine what a musical evening one would have sitting behind the lymanist or next to the bass viol. I would still not be allowed in the theatre at all for the many other concerts which also mean a great deal to me.

The Consolation

All, all is right; by God ordain'd or done;
And who, but God, resum'd the friends he gave?
And have I been complaining, then, so long?
Complaining of His favours; pain and death?
Who, without Pain's advice, would e'er be good?
Who, without Death, but would be good in vain?

Pain is to save from pain; all punishment,
To make for peace; and death, to save from Death;

And second death, to guard immortal life;
To rouse the careless, presumptuous sinner;
And turn the tide of souls another way;
By the same tenderness divine ordain'd.

That planted Eden, and high bloom'd for man,
A fairer Eden, endless in the skies.

Former Prime Minister Of New Zealand Dies

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Dec. 12 (Tuesday) (Reuters).—Peter Fraser, former prime minister, died today.

Fraser, Labor prime minister whose Government was defeated in the 1949 general election, was 66.

He had been ill for some time with bronchitis and a heart ailment. He died just before 3 a.m. local time.

Fraser was prime minister of New Zealand's former Labor Government for nine years, from 1940 to 1948. Labor was in power from 1935 until last year.

He was known as an opponent of poverty and unemployment at home, and abroad as a vigorous voice of the small powers.

When the United Nations was born at San Francisco in 1945 he was there championing the rights of the small countries.

Fraser won his way to his adopted country's highest office from humble beginnings.

Born a fisherman's son in the Scottish village of Fern, he had only limited formal schooling.

The tousle-haired Scot emigrated to New Zealand shortly after the turn of the century.

He worked as a day laborer and dock worker in Auckland and Wellington, joined the Socialist Party and became a leader of the flourishing industrial labor movement in 1911.

Shortly afterward he was elected to New Zealand's House of Representatives.

Skin Offer May Solve Busby Crisis

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Dec. 11 (CP).

To Officer Commanding, Grenadier Guards, United Kingdom.

Re: Bearskins for busbies.

1. It has come to the notice of the Prince George Junior Chamber of Commerce that your illustrious regiment is short of bear hides for the manufacture of the state's busby.

2. A London dispatch has also informed us that with your headpieces on their last legs, wolf hides will soon have to be substituted for bear hides.

3. We feel it is a sorry state when the entire British Empire cannot supply the necessary clothing to one of its most illustrious regiments.

4. It is a shame when poor substitutes must be used in place of the real article when such a famed institution as the Grenadier Guards is involved.

5. Therefore, the Prince George Jaycees will keep the regiment permanently supplied with proper headgear.

6. We expect to get the co-operation of the game department here in gathering the skins together.

7. But, if the necessity arises, we Jaycees will take to the woods en masse and root out all the brains needed from their dens.

(Signed) Hillard Clair, president, Prince George Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Britain Said Ready to Shoulder $10,080,000,000 Defence Program

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP).—Informed sources said, tonight Britain now is ready to shoulder a $10,080,000,000 three-year rearmament program.

Such a program, put forward last August, was based on the United States' furnishing $1,500,000,000 worth of aid. Most of the American help would have been in free dollars for spending anywhere.

The United States made it clear Congress could not be easily persuaded to those terms.

Now, the sources say, Britain feels her own finances and economy have improved sufficiently to permit a larger investment in the country's security.

The informants say Prime Minister Clement Attlee, due back here tomorrow, may announce the program this week, possibly in a report to Parliament on his Washington and Ottawa talks.

Two factors

Britain's feeling that she can undertake the program on her own has been reinforced, informants say, by two factors emerging from the Washington talks.

1. American recognition that "the maintenance of our civilian economies is of vital importance to the success of our defence efforts." The Labor Government has long been torn between the conflicting demands of economic stability and military security.

2. Agreement by the United States that some system of providing for the "equitable distribution" of scarce materials is needed. A regular flow of various strategic materials is needed by Britain even more than dollars.

Political sources expressed the view that Mr. Attlee pledged a definite—though undisclosed—increase in British rearmament effort in return for the American concession on raw material allocations.

In face of rising prices and acute shortages, widespread fears have been expressed that the arms program may be seriously slowed unless prompt plans are worked out for swift delivery of strategic supplies.

Dwindling supply

Immediate concern of the country's industrial planners is the dwindling supply of zinc, sulphur and cotton and to a slightly lesser extent, nickel, copper and aluminum.

Supply Minister George Strauss already has warned that supplies of certain metals might have to be drastically restricted in the first quarter of 1951.

To meet the emergency the Government has taken the following steps: (1) Controlled distribution where severe shortages persist; (2) Imposed restrictions on export of semi-manufactured articles; (3) banned use of scarce metals for "unessential" goods.

Mr. Attlee is expected to report the results of his talk with Mr. Truman to a special meeting of the Cabinet tomorrow or Wednesday. Parliament will debate his statement the day following his report to the Cabinet.

THE CASE OF THE UNBIDDEN GUEST

THIS WAS ALWAYS the worst time for Mrs. Walker, this moment when she actually began a visit. It didn't help to remember that she had had this experience countless times before... that her life was an endless round of such "visits" to her relatives. It didn't help to think that she would be welcomed with joyous cries of "Nana," and an affectionate kiss from her daughter. For much as they tried to make her feel at home she was always a visitor—a feeble old woman without money, without independence.

She felt unwanted—unbidden. And no amount of love and affection could change her feeling. A few gifts tucked away in her suitcase for the children would have helped—gifts like she used to bring when John was alive—but John's estate hadn't provided even that small measure of comfort.

For a fleeting moment she held on to the past—it was all she had as she looked forward to the future.

Think. Could this happen to your wife?

THE CASE OF THE UNBIDDEN GUEST

THIS WAS ALWAYS the worst time for Mrs. Walker, this moment when she actually began a visit. It didn't help to remember that she had had this experience countless times before... that her life was an endless round of such "visits" to her relatives. It didn't help to think that she would be welcomed with joyous cries of "Nana," and an affectionate kiss from her daughter. For much as they tried to make her feel at home she was always a visitor—a feeble old woman without money, without independence.

She felt unwanted—unbidden. And no amount of love and affection could change her feeling. A few gifts tucked away in her suitcase for the children would have helped—gifts like she used to bring when John was alive—but John's estate hadn't provided even that small measure of comfort.

For a fleeting moment she held on to the past—it was all she had as she looked forward to the future.

Think. Could this happen to your wife?

There is a way to guarantee a secure future for your loved ones. Your Prudential representative has a planning method called The Dollar Guide. With it, you can decide how many dollars your family will need to protect them against the future.

For your present peace of mind, and for the future benefit of your family, ask a Prudential representative to explain how you can plan a lifetime today... with The Prudential Dollar Guide.

Britain Said Ready to Shoulder $10,080,000,000 Defence Program

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP).—Informed sources said, tonight Britain now is ready to shoulder a $10,080,000,000 three-year rearmament program.

Such a program, put forward last August, was based on the United States' furnishing $1,500,000,000 worth of aid. Most of the American help would have been in free dollars for spending anywhere.

The United States made it clear Congress could not be easily persuaded to those terms.

Now, the sources say, Britain feels her own finances and economy have improved sufficiently to permit a larger investment in the country's security.

The informants say Prime Minister Clement Attlee, due back here tomorrow, may announce the program this week, possibly in a report to Parliament on his Washington and Ottawa talks.

Two factors

Britain's feeling that she can undertake the program on her own has been reinforced, informants say, by two factors emerging from the Washington talks.

1. American recognition that "the maintenance of our civilian economies is of vital importance to the success of our defence efforts." The Labor Government has long been torn between the conflicting demands of economic stability and military security.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

Preliminaries were not yet over. The oldest men were queuing up, and the first was already in front of my companion. One by one each passed in front of her. As he did, he held out his clenched fist with the thumb sticking rigidly upright. And Dr. Mary seized each thumb and gave it a smart jerk. As she did so, each man leaned forward and spit very accurately into the middle of her blouse. I don't know how many times this splattering, wrenching, the breath out of me in what I thought was an unvoiced "Oh!" but suddenly Dr. Mary spoke up quite distinctly.

CHAPTER VII

It seemed to me that surely all the hail, the blind, the vicious, of Africa passed before us that day, and when evening fell, there were as many more waiting to be treated. Sometime, during the afternoon, limp with exhaustion, I burst out: "You're feeling about your age. You can't be seventy-three."

"Maybe I can't, but I am," Dr. Mary answered, without looking up from a great grey ulcer which had eaten clear through a boy's foot so that the bones showed like the spoke of a wheel. "And don't you begin talking about my retirement. This is my home, and these are my people, but the board secretary in the United States has a one-track mind. Her little suburb is home for everyone else, and if you don't agree, you're a problem."

She was with me for more than two weeks. And in those days I saw an African that had remained hidden to me until then.

"When I learn Hausa well enough so that I can go on literary intelligently, I'll find these cases, won't I?" I remarked half to myself as I wore palm-leaf splints for an arm with a month-old compound fracture which Dr. Mar was dressing.

"Then you'll learn surgery!" "The words were a challenge and I was quick to deny pretension to qualifications I did not have."

"So, you think you're only a nurse? Well, let me tell you, Ellen, in Africa, this far from any white man's town, you're whatever the occasion demands—or you're nothing at all."

"How much studying are you doing, Ellen? None? I thought so. All young missionaries are like that—and most of the old missionaries too. But, dear girl, unfortunately chose the one profession where more real technical knowledge will be demanded of you than in any other. Subscribe to some medical journals, get some books; better still—come back to N'zem with me. I'll teach you everything I know, and I've got books."

Perhaps I might have gone to N'zem right then if she had not amazed me with details of her work. It was not the work that deterred me. I was frightened by the folk mores of my people. This sort of social hysteria, which a good many missionaries experience, comes when you find yourself uncertain of being able to adapt to a different civilization, really a different era in point of evolution of the human race. Could I preserve the inhibitions and restraints of my advanced civilization while all about me primeval communal laws were operative?

"What are you going to do, Ellen, when—if a doctor should be sent out? The board is always looking for doctors, you know, and when they find one, Tani is the logical place for him to come. That'll be wonderful for the mission, but you and I aren't the kind of women who can be happy at a lifetime of tying bandages and running errands for some man whose claim to domination is the fact that he wears his pants on the outside where everyone can see them. Better come to N'zem with me."

Basically I don't believe I'm a coward, but I stayed on at Tani. Nor did Dr. Mary again bring up the matter of my going to N'zem with her until the day she left. Then, almost the last thing before she got into her dugout, she turned to me before everyone. "Come to N'zem any time you like Ellen," she said lightly. "You'll always be welcome there."

I worked hard at Tani. I can't say that I accomplished much, but my days were full. I had anywhere from ten to fifty dispensary patients a day, the smallest group always on Mondays, and the number growing until on Sundays my hospital was mobbed. Dr. Mary's hospital was tried to send them away, but they wouldn't go until evening.

I was under the strictest injunction to "remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy." I could read on Sundays, and write letters, and puzzle (as until I splashed inwardly, but sewing was forbidden; nor could I walk in the jungle, since that would necessitate the services of a boy to keep me from getting lost—although not working myself, I would be putting another to work, which would be just as sinful.

It is true that this break of clubs was unfortunate, and that with fair luck South would have sailed home.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RUN

Buster the rabbit scout was so surprised at what his Uncle Wiggily daddy was doing, that Buster just stood on the woodland path and looked. Buster and Uncle Wiggily were going to the store of Uncle Butter the goat to buy a new football for Buster.

They took with them Buster's old football that had been blown as flat as a pancake. But, just as Uncle Wiggily was going to hop into the store and buy the new football, along came Guffy the bear.

"I'm going to play a tickling trick on you," shouted Uncle Wiggily as he hopped toward Guffy the bear. "What trick are you going to play on Guffy?" asked Buster. The rabbit scout jumped up on a flat stump so that he might better see what his father was going to do. "What trick, Daddy?"

"I am going to play a football trick," answered Uncle Wiggily. "With that he held out Buster's old football, which was as soft and flat and flabby as a cold pancake. And before Guffy the bear could do anything, Mr. Longears jumped up in the air and clapped that flat, soft rubber football over the bear's eyes and nose and mouth, and held it there until Guffy could hardly breathe a single breath."

"Guff! Wuff! Buff! Uff!" gurgled Guffy the bear. "Oof! Wof! Bof!" And he was so surprised and astonished and kerolstrated (which means all fused) that Guffy the bear turned around and ran away as fast as he could run.

The soft, flabby football that Uncle Wiggily had plastered on Guffy's nose, eyes, and mouth like a wet bathing suit on a rag doll. Guffy jumped up in the air. He rolled over on the ground. He turned somersaults and peppersaults. He stood on his left hind leg and legged his right ear. He stood on his right hind leg and legged his left ear. Then he tried to stand on his tail.

But Guffy's tail was a little stubby tail and when he tried to stand on it he fell over backward. And then Buster's soft, flabby football, like a cold pancake, dropped from the eyes, nose and mouth of Guffy the bear and he shuffled off through the woods as fast as he could go.

"I'll never play any more tricks on Uncle Wiggily," growled Guffy the bear. And Uncle Wiggily and Buster laughed: "Ha! Ha! Ha!" And "Ho! Ho! Ho!"

"Now we can go in Uncle Butter's Swiss cheese grocery store and buy you a new football, Buster, my little rabbit scout," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What trick, daddy?"

"Here is the best football in my store, Buster!" bleated Uncle Butter. The jolly old goat gave the rabbit scout a fine football. It was already blown up as tightly as a drum. And when Buster kicked it that ball flew up in the air like a kite and bounced seven times after coming down.

"Oh, this is a fine football, Daddy! Thank you," said Buster. "Now do you want to come to our football game?"

"Yes, I would like to see the football game," said Uncle Wiggily. The football game was to be played in the yard back of Hollow Tree School. The Lady Mouse Teacher was there and so was Mr. Rufus Coke the rat gentleman janitor. All the animal boys who were to play the game were also there. Mr. Coke blew the whistle to start the game.

"Wait! Wait!" squeaked Miss Mouse. "I want to see Uncle Wiggily run!"

"Uncle Wiggily can't run with the ball!" quacked Jimmie the duck. "Oh, can't he?" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Watch me run with the ball!" He caught the ball—that Buster kicked. Then Uncle Wiggily ran with the ball. And something happened.

I'll tell you about it tomorrow if the croquet mallet doesn't get up in the night and hit the nail on its head to make a hole in the Swiss cheese.

Jaycee-Ettes Receive Gavel of Office

Miss Lorraine Arnet, president of the recently-organized Jaycee-Ettes, received her gavel of office from Mr. Don Smith, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at last night's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Looking on, left to right, are members of the executive: Mrs. C. J. Barlow, vice-president; Mrs. J. P. Nicol, secretary, and Mrs. R. T. Copley, treasurer. Membership is 30 and the first project is provision of a Christmas hamper to a needy family.

Supper and Dance At Royal Roads

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Invitations have been issued by the Wardroom Officers of Royal Roads Three Services College, for a buffet supper in the Castle Wardroom, Friday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m.

The Commandant, Staff and Cadets will also be hosts on the same date at a formal dance beginning at nine o'clock in the evening.

Attend Son's Wedding

Brigadier and Mrs. J. F. Preston, Cadboro Bay Road, have left the city for Trail to attend the wedding of their son, Lieut. John Preston, R.C.E., to Miss Barbara Tomson, daughter of Mrs. H. B. Tomson.

Double Christening

A double christening ceremony took place Sunday at St. Matthias' Church when infant children of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Green, Cadboro Bay Road, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Green, Reed Street, received their names. Charlotte Rosalind Compton were the names given the nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Green; godparents for the child were Mrs. H. M. Addison, Mrs. W. F. Stoba, Miss Mary Green and Mr. Jack Green. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Green was christened Richard Warren and his godparents were Miss Edith Green, Mr. Neil Swainson and Mr. Wendell Fairbanks. Rev. F. E. Tomalin officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. H. N. Addison presided at the tea urns for a reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Green later on. Mrs. H. S. Gibson, Duncan, was present for the ceremony.

In Vancouver

Hon. Charles A. Banks and Mrs. Banks are guests at the Hotel Vancouver.

Tapering Tea

Mrs. A. K. Harrison was hostess recently at a tapering tea when her guests were Mrs. E. Belton, Mrs. M. Harrison, Mrs. W. Burley, Mrs. R. Grant and Mrs. D. Walker.

Mrs. Margaret McDonald has returned to the city following a holiday in Vancouver where she was guest of Mrs. E. J. Coyle.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding of Mr. Keith Smith and Miss Beulah O'Neil included Mr. and Mrs. Colin Smith of Nanaimo and Mrs. T. Reeve of Vancouver.

Mrs. I. D. Lachlan entertained on Sunday afternoon at her home on Passmore Street for a few of her friends of the White Cane Club. Mrs. Kyle Symons and Mrs. Kenneth Overton assisted in serving. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. Boretel, Mr. and Mrs. Pollock, Mrs. M. Dean, Mrs. G. Lee, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Harris, Mr. Truman, Mr. A. Montlieth and Mr. Raines.

Raise $260 From Bazaar

The bazaar held recently by St. Luke's W.A. netted $260.

Mrs. S. Ryall, wife of Canon S. Ryall, formerly rector of St. Luke's, who opened the affair, was welcomed by the president, Mrs. E. O. Taylor, and presented with a bouquet of large gold chrysanthemums.

The following women convened stalls: Mrs. G. Hunter, Mrs. G. F. Thompson, Mrs. M. Bell, Mrs. F. Lakey, Mrs. F. S. Maddock, Mrs. A. Edmonds, Mrs. S. Macra, Mrs. J. Dunkleu, Mrs. M. Chalmers and Mrs. M. A. Jarvis.

Tea was convened by Mrs. H. Drury.

GIVE CONCERT

Evening Branch of St. Saviour's W.A. sponsored a concert by the Meistersingers Male Chorus on Friday evening. A varied program was presented under the leadership of Mr. Dudley Wickert with several members taking solo parts and selections by the Meistersingers Quartet.

Miss Louise Martin sang several solos and Mrs. W. I. Anderson was accompanist.

Candidates Address Clubwomen

Four candidates in the forthcoming municipal elections were introduced by Alderman Margaret Christie last night at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Alderman Mrs. Hilda Baxter running for City Council, Mrs. W. W. McGill who has been elected by acclamation to the Greater Victoria School Board, Mrs. Grace Shaw who is running in Saanich, and Mrs. R. McVie who is running in Esquimalt, each gave a brief address.

Miss Lily Henderson thanked the speakers.

Mrs. Lee Cameron of the Secretariat was a speaker at the meeting, and told club members that her business had originated with the idea of rendering service to small concerns. Starting alone, Mrs. Cameron now has a staff of five people working for her while she directs the job as advisor, administrator and business manager of individual firms. Mrs. Cameron's career has been a success because she has made other people's problems her problems, whether her services have been called for indefinitely or for the short period needed to set up a working system.

President of the club, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, was chairman of the meeting which was held in the clubrooms.

Rideau Hall Prepares For Holidays

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (C.P.)—Once "the tree" is up at Rideau Hall everyone knows Christmas is just around the corner.

Any day now a tall fir will be hauled into Government House, placed in a corner of the ballroom. Viscount Alexander decorates his own tree. Viscountess Alexander always gives a hand. Rose, 18, too, usually helps and Brian, aged 11, has his bit to do. Chances are 15-year-old Sidnie may be home from school in England in time. He's expected two days before Christmas.

This year the Governor-General's personal Christmas-card bears a reproduction of one of his paintings, a picture of the old Coach House at the rear of Rideau Hall.

FOR HOUSEHOLD

Their Excellencies decorate themselves the 24 bushel-baskets which a couple of days before Christmas will be placed at the foot of the Christmas tree. Each is for one of the families in the household and will be loaded with presents from the vice-regal couple.

As in other homes most of the Christmas activities at Rideau Hall are centred around "the tree."

First there's Viscount Alexander's reception for members of the city police motorcycle guard who have escorted him around the capital throughout the year.

Next comes the Christmas party for the children of St. Bartholomew's Sunday school. This Anglican Church for nearly 50 years has been the place of worship of Canada's Governors-General.

Sometime between Christmas and New Year's there will be the young people's ball. The party will take on special meaning this year, because it also is serving as Rose Alexander's official "coming out" party.

The dark-haired daughter of Canada's Governor-General was 18 in October and is making her bow to society during the Christmas season.

Nanaimo Girl Bride Of Clarence Tingstad

Nanaimo and Victoria families joined Saturday when Gladys Edna Richardson became the bride of Clarence John Tingstad at an early evening ceremony in Glad Tidings Tabernacle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. E. Richardson, Nanaimo, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Tingstad. Rev. A. F. Kenney, assisted by Rev. E. W. Robinson, conducted the ceremony.

The music was played by Miss Beulah Kenney, and Mrs. Audrie Tingstad, sister of the bride, sang "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register. White and mauve chrysanthemums decorated the church for the ceremony.

The bride chose traditional white satin for her gown with a circular veil. She carried white beehive chrysanthemums and pink carnations. She wore pink lace shoes on tulle. The couple will live in Victoria.

She was attended by her sisters.

Hold Banquet

The Vancouver Island Dog fanciers' Association held their annual banquet at the Club Sirocco on Saturday evening.

President Mrs. Agnes L. Wilkie and vice-president Mr. K. P. Rickman welcomed the 60 members and their guests.

The head table was centred by a birthday cake, the gift of Mrs. Jack Knowles, to mark the first anniversary of incorporation.

Mrs. Wilkinson spoke briefly on the club's achievements during the past year and honorary president Mr. Ernest L. Tait and Mr. Walter J. Pym addressed the guests.

Yuletide Carol Tea At Memorial Hall

The carol tea sponsored by the Musical Art Society last December, which proved a popular event, is to be repeated again this year, on Saturday, December 16, in the Memorial Hall, Vancouver Street, at 3 p.m.

A varied and interesting program has been arranged by the society's president, Dr. Roger Manning and his committee. Christmas carols will be sung by the boys' choir of Christ Church, under the direction of Mr. Graham Steed, selections by a string instrument group arranged by Miss Francis, piano solos by Gerald Shaw, vocal solos by the Trimble Sisters and June Millburn, also a violin trio consisting of John and William Oulton, with Ilce Norris at the piano.

Individual tables for all patrons will be available, at which a dainty tea will be served by the society's catering committee.

Sooke Girls Raise $72

The Christmas tea and entertainment put on by the Sooke Girl Guide committee recently was one of the most successful of the many social events that have presaged the Christmas season. The sum of $72.60 was raised.

Conveners were Mrs. John E. Martin, Mrs. William McClintock, Mrs. G. A. Acreman, Mrs. G. Dunlop, Miss Norah Wadams, Girl Guide leader, and Miss Jessie Carlow, Brown Owl of the Sooke Brownie pack.

Mrs. Hugh Wadams poured tea. Decorations were on a Christmas theme.

Miss Louise Hooper contributed vocal solos and Guides and Brownies sang group songs.

Mrs. N. MacDonald managed a well-patronized home-cooking stall. Contests were won by Mrs. Acreman, Mr. John Wiltford, Mrs. Grace Nix and Miss Doreen Forrester.

Proceeds will be used jointly for Girl Guide and Brownie activities.

B.C. to Help Esquimalt Rebuild Road

The Provincial Government will give "substantial" assistance to the Esquimalt Works Department in rebuilding a part of Craigflower Road, the municipal council heard last night.

Councillor A. C. Wurtele said that Craigflower Road appropriations were not included in the $100,000 street and road improvement by-law to be submitted to voters December 16, because of negotiations between his committee and the Provincial Department of Public Works.

"Our negotiations with the Minister, Hon. E. C. Carson, have been favorable. The department is prepared to offer substantial assistance, and I can tell you that the job will not be just one-quarter finished. I am not permitted to quote any figures, however," Councillor Wurtele said.

PROPOSED WORK

The proposed rebuilding work will be carried on between Lampton Street and the municipal boundary.

The council followed annual practice in voting to keep all street lights in the municipality burning during the Yule season. Lights which now are shut off at 2 a.m. will continue burning through to 7 a.m. between December 20 and January 5.

The Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council will be notified that Esquimalt and other municipalities have already been planning for a civil defence organization.

The Parent-Teacher group asked for action on the matter.

The 1951 Council will deal with a request by the Native Sons and Daughters of British Columbia for a grant, to be used in the restoration of the Old Craigflower School as a historical site.

STARTS DRIVE

The organization said a drive has been started to raise $6,000 to finance the project.

Councillors unanimously endorsed a request by Victoria Alderman P. S. Scourah for support on the proposed George Canal project.

Last night's meeting was marked by a period of silence, in memory of former Reeve Albert Beal, who died recently.

City Man Faces Charge After Probe of Entries

A Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigation of an epidemic of housebreaking in the Shawnigan Lake area resulted over the week-end in the arrest of a young Victoria man.

Vernon Taylor, 3293 Douglas Street, was arrested at his home Sunday night and appeared in Provincial Police court yesterday afternoon.

Before Magistrate A. I. Thomas, Taylor was charged with breaking and entering the home of Harry Dawson, Shawnigan Lake. He was remanded without plea to next week. W. H. M. Haldane appeared as defence counsel.

Non-Partisans Regret Loss Of Candidate

A meeting of the executive of the Civic Non-Partisan League yesterday expressed regret that, because of a technicality, Kenneth L. Leeming had been forced to withdraw as a candidate for the Greater Victoria School Board.

Mr. Leeming had been endorsed by the league.

The meeting noted, however, that "an outstanding citizen" in the person of Walter S. Knight had offered his services following withdrawal of Mr. Leeming.

"Mr. Knight's past experience would be a great asset to the school board," declared Russell Ker, retiring president of the League. "The executive feels that he well deserves the support of the people, and further regrets that at this time it is impossible to have Mr. Knight's candidacy submitted to a general meeting of the Non-Partisan League for their endorsement."

Mayhew Sees Slight Tax Staff Cut

A Dominion-wide reduction in Government income tax department staffs probably will have an effect in Victoria.

Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, who is in Vancouver, said yesterday that he thought there would be very few let out of the department office in Victoria. The office has between 80 and 70 employees.

The results of reclassification examinations now being written will not be known until the end of the week, Mr. Mayhew said.

He denied that the current shuffle is the result of transfer of Vancouver Island tax records from the Vancouver to the Victoria office, and said that if the move had not been made, a sharper staff cut would have had to follow.

CAUGHT UP

"Income tax department personnel across Canada have caught up with a huge backlog of work which accumulated after the war. Book-keepers and accountants were hired by the thousands, but some will now have to be released or transferred."

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Mexican Tourist Commission reported Saturday a new road here is really being paved with gold and silver.

The commission said refuse from the San Pedro mines is being mixed with cement to build the San Luis Potosi-Santa Maria road.

Old refining methods left much of the precious metals in the refuse. The commission estimated there is $7 worth of silver and $2 worth of gold in every square yard of the 40-mile road.

Quatsino Report

Island Tests Show "Very Pure" Iron

Reputed to be an exceptionally pure iron ore strike at Quatsino on the northern end of Vancouver Island was confirmed yesterday in Vancouver by Henry Hill, consulting engineer for Quatsino Copper-Gold Mines Ltd., Vancouver.

Mr. Hill described results to date as "very promising."

SOLID ORE

Drilling of the first test shaft, which reached a depth of 49 feet, penetrating 20 feet of solid iron ore before a shortage of power interrupted a drill. Mr. Hill said that the ore in the area showed a high percentage of iron, averaging 65.3 per cent iron, 91 per cent sulphur and 92 per cent phosphorus.

Drilling later showed a proportion of 15 per cent sulphur.

Wall Street Prices Gain Under Buoyant Demand

By The Associated Press

Buoyant demand spread throughout the New York Stock Market yesterday, as two rallies and three price advances were recorded.

Railroad stocks and oil shares were the main factors for the advance which carried prices upward by a few cents to around $2 a share.

A number of factors contributed to the buoyant demand, including a report that the U.S. government had ordered a large purchase of steel for the production of tanks.

ELEPHANT FORGETS

MONTREAL (CP)—Major O. Claude Wilson, here on a lecture tour after 30 years in India, told an interviewer that an elephant does sometimes forget. He said the elephant is a remarkable animal, but not because of his memory, which is no better than that of a horse, cat or dog.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Light-Heavyweight Champion Joey Maxim of Cleveland tonight knocked out San Francisco's Dave Whitlock at 2:37 of the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round non-title bout.

Maxim weighed 168 and Whitlock 161.

Costs of Building Roads Emphasized by Carson

British Columbia has spent $75,000,000 in the past six years on highway construction and is currently spending $12,000,000 a year, Works Minister E. C. Carson said last night.

Outlining British Columbia's vast and difficult highway problems to the Highway and North-South Progressive Conservative Association at Sidney, Mr. Carson stressed that British Columbia stretched over 375,000 square miles but has only 1,200,000 people to bear the tremendous load of taxation which adequate highway development requires.

GOING UP

Outside of new construction, Mr. Carson said, British Columbia is spending $13,000,000 for maintenance of present roads and the figure will continue to rise as more roads are built.

Road-building in British Columbia said the minister is more expensive and difficult than in any other part of North America. For example, he said, one section of nine-tenths of a mile in the Fraser road cost $16,000. The average cost of the past seven years for highway construction has been $70,000 to $80,000 a mile.

"A million dollars doesn't go far in building roads," said Mr. Carson. "But it represents an awful lot of tax money."

If all the present bridge in British Columbia were paved and to end that, he said, would cost more than $70 million, almost the same as the cost of the Fraser Valley bridge.

He stressed that the province was trying to follow an orderly road program which would encourage maximum development of industry to maintain a high standard of life for the people of the province.

Legion Branch Elects Oliver

Philip Oliver was elected president of the Ad Astra Branch of the Canadian Legion for 1961 at a meeting held last night in the Britannia Branch Hall.

E. Wilkinson was elected first vice-president; Mill L. Brinkworth, second vice-president, and Ellis Todd treasurer.

Executive elected were Ernest Wheeler, Alfred Savage, Mrs. Margaret Talbot and Roy Head.

Gift Smokes on Sale For Overseas Troops

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS

By RAY WORMALD

Arrangements have been made with Canadian tobacco companies under which cigarette gift parcels may be sent to members of the armed forces on duty overseas. It has been announced by Defence Minister Brooke Claxton.

The gift plan, similar to that conducted during the war, does not apply to personnel of the Special Force stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., or in other parts of the United States.

For delivery to soldiers, sailors or airmen overseas, orders must be placed directly with the tobacco companies. The price for 400 cigarettes is $2. Only parcels of 400 cigarettes are available.

If they wish, troops overseas may place orders for cigarettes through their unit at the same cost.

The Defence Minister said personnel stationed at Fort Lewis will be able to purchase up to six packages—120 cigarettes—of duty-free cigarettes a week.

He emphasized that tobacco companies would not accept orders for individual parcels to personnel of the Special Force stationed in the United States.

LIGHT RESTORED

Mariners are advised that Cape Lazo light, Strait of Georgia, is back in operation as an occulting white light. The characteristic is as follows: Light five seconds; eclipse one and a half seconds; light five seconds; eclipse five seconds.

CREW RESCUED

Two members of the fishpacker Pai Maraki, which ran aground 100 yards northwest of Sitash Rock Sunday night, were rescued yesterday by the crew of a Vancouver police boat.

The rescued men, Skipper Joe Kolesan and A. Larsen, were none the worse for their eight-hour experience aboard the grounded packer.

Kolesan said the packer ran aground in heavy fog at 9 p.m. Sunday, when it missed the entrance to the harbor, but did not radio for assistance until after all efforts to get the packer refloated had failed.

The tug Trusilla stood by to give assistance while the police boat took off the two men.

Wharf Work Nears End

A complete modernization and renovation of the Federal Department of Transport wharf, immediately north of the Johnson Street bridge, is almost complete, T. E. Morrison, local Transport Department agent, reported yesterday.

The big job of rebuilding the wharf site was started early last May by Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd., and has cost in the neighborhood of $150,000.

It was planned, Mr. Morrison said, to have a representative group of local shipping and marine men attend a special opening ceremony at the wharf location toward the middle of next week.

A new stores building has been established at the site, and other large buildings of the area have been completely renovated.

A number of Federal Government vessels use the wharf, including the lighthouse tender C.G.S. Estevan, the hydrographic survey ship William J. Stewart and the smaller survey vessel Berens.

Soon after the work started, Mr. Morrison remarked the wharf had been in a serious state of disrepair for some time. "Some of the pilings," he added, "were about as thin as pencils."

Nathaniel Fraser Dies

Nathaniel J. Fraser, 72, hull superintendent at Yarrows Ltd. for many years, died suddenly Sunday morning at the intersection of Port and Douglas Streets.

He joined the Yarrows firm in 1924, and for some time prior to his retirement four years ago was hull superintendent.

Born in Glasgow, Mr. Fraser served his shipbuilding apprenticeship with Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Co. Ltd. at Govan, Scotland, and about 1902 went to the United States. He was employed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and other American shipbuilding plants until early in the Great War. Then he came to Canada, going first to work at the Vickers shipbuilding plant and later to Vancouver.

Returning to the United States, he worked a short while in Seattle and Everett shipyards, before coming to this city in 1924 to join the firm of Yarrows Ltd., as a foreman shipfitter. He worked there until 1946, when ill health forced his retirement.

His wife predeceased him approximately 13 years ago.

Funeral arrangements, being handled by McCall Bros. Funeral Home, will be announced later.

Beginner's Luck

Near-Crash, Grounding Ruin First Sea Venture

Apparent lack of navigational experience resulted in close shaves for a C.P.R. steamship, a 26-foot pleasure craft and its new owner on Sunday.

Seth Bruce, gardener at Butchart's Gardens, boarded the pleasure craft Freda in Victoria's harbor on Sunday afternoon and set out for Tod Inlet. He had just purchased the craft from James McLeod, Victoria.

On reaching the harbor entrance he cut across the bow of the incoming Ss. Princess Maquinna, causing the steamer to reverse her engines suddenly to avoid a collision. In doing so, the C.P.R. vessel went uncomfortably close to nearby rocks. Capt. Ronald Newell, harbor master, stated.

The atmosphere about Capt. Ralph W. Carthew in the Maquinna's wheelhouse grew hot. Shortly afterward he stated clearly to Capt. Newell what he thought about vessels whose skippers were not familiar with sea rules.

JUST STARTING

That was only the beginning for the would-be mariner. By 3:30 p.m. Mr. Bruce had his pleasure craft well grounded on rocks in the entrance to the small channel which separates Discovery and Chatham Islands, off Oak Bay.

And there he remained for almost 24 hours, before Victor Hirst, Oak Bay Boathouse proprietor, went to his rescue yesterday afternoon.

The Freda had been holed, and shipped water. She had come to rest on her port side.

The rocks on which she had grounded were some distance from shore. There was a dinghy with the Freda, Mr. Bruce explained, but it had been in tow—with an exceptionally long painter attached to the stern of the Freda. By the time the boatman thought of leaving his vessel, the stern was some distance under water.

WET NIGHT

Fortunately the sea was reasonably calm. Mr. Bruce spent Sunday night sleeping on the starboard side of his vessel's cabin. His clothes were soaking wet.

The boat took a bit of pounding several times yesterday as the wash of passing C.P.R. ships hit the area.

Reaching the scene at 3:30 p.m. yesterday in his cabin cruiser Sea-Bird, Mr. Hirst managed to get the Freda off the rocks and tow her to the Oak Bay Boathouse. Only the wheelhouse and mast of the rescued craft was above water as she was towed to the boathouse.

As the tide ebbed last night the craft came to rest on the muddy bottom.

Mr. Bruce went to his home at Butchart's Gardens—a completely disillusioned man.

The Freda will be hauled onto the Oak Bay Boathouse marine slipway at high tide today.

DUDLEY PAGE, M.R.E., M.C.

THOMAS C. LOCKWOOD, C.R.E.

Of interest to shipping world is announcement of promotion of Dudley Page to presidency of Cunard Donaldson Ltd., succeeding Thomas C. Lockwood, who is retiring December 31. Mr. Page joined Cunard in its Liverpool headquarters in 1921, worked several years in company's various passenger departments in United Kingdom and United States. He was transferred to Canadian branch of company in 1949 and appointed to vice-presidency in January. Mr. Lockwood entered steamship business in 1912, and has been associated with Cunard since 1919. He joined Robert Reford Co. Ltd., then agents for Cunard Line in Canada, as assistant freight traffic manager in 1919, later being promoted to freight traffic manager. In November, 1939, he was appointed Federal Transport Controller, in which post he served until November, 1945, when he was appointed general manager of Cunard White Star Ltd. He was elected president of Cunard Donaldson Ltd. in February, 1947.

VOTE SUPPORT

Gyro Club members voted unanimously in favor of the proposal.

In thanking Alderman Scurrah, J. P. Cameron, club vice-president, declared the Gorge had been the only spot in Greater Victoria where warm salt water swimming had been possible. For some time the waterway had been condemned for such activity. It would be a fine thing, he suggested, if this situation could be corrected.

Guest speaker at the meeting was R. S. Wilson, who told of a recent trip to Europe, and presented a number of beautiful color slides taken by himself in various countries visited.

Gorge "Sewer" in Decade Gyro Meeting Informed

In about ten years' time the Gorge will be nothing but an open sewer, Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Federal Minister of Fisheries, reportedly made such a statement recently, and yesterday was quoted by Alderman Percy Scurrah in a brief address to the Gyro Club at its Empress Hotel luncheon meeting.

Alderman Scurrah was speaking as chairman of a special committee established directly in the year which is now campaigning for "jibbe" support for a major clean-up of the Gorge waterway.

This would be done, he explained, by building a 1,500-foot canal to link Portage Inlet with Esquimalt Harbor. By means of locks, he continued, it would be possible to "flush" the Gorge by taking advantage of incoming and outgoing tides.

SEPTIC TANKS

Alderman Scurrah noted a large number of septic tanks of the Gorge area drained into the Gorge waterway and that already "the situation is almost unbearable in a number of locations."

He said both Federal and Provincial Governments were interested in the clean-up proposal, and that it was almost certain they would act if there was sufficient public support.

"That is what we are now seeking," Alderman Scurrah stated. Already, he added, a number of service clubs, the Chamber of Commerce

Oak Bay Voters to Decide on Extending Boundaries

Shaded-in section of above map may be all Oak Bay if ratepayers vote December 16 to allow Gordon Head, Cadboro Bay and "panhandle" into their municipality. Extension of Oak Bay boundaries to take in these areas would give municipality size of 6,360 acres compared to present 2,550. Old Saanich Ward Three area has 3,000 acres and "panhandle" district has 810 acres.

Announcements

Cancer, polio, diabetes and the common cold are only a few of the diseases which are no nearer being cured than in the days of the ancient Pharaohs despite literally billions of experiments on animals. The only way to find cures for these scourges is to study sick people in centres devoted to each specific disease. Brilliant specialists in the medical world advocate this, but vivisection continues because it is financially profitable to those engaged in it. Help stamp out vivisection; tomorrow you or your children may be the victims of one of these diseases from which there is no escape, simply because medical research workers are too busy skinning cats alive and scalding dogs to death to bother with humanity. ## To Suspend Shop-Closing Regulations

The city's Shops Early Closing By-Law will be suspended, according to usual practice, from December 15 to 31 inclusive. City Clerk Frank Hunter declared yesterday.

"This means the shops will be entirely unrestricted as to hours in respect to the days over which the city has control," stated Mr. Hunter. He explained the city had control of all days except holidays and Wednesdays.

Mr. Hunter stated Wednesday closing was governed by the Shops Regulation and Weekly Half-Holiday Act which suspends Wednesday closing for the seven days immediately preceding Christmas Day.

Also, since two public holidays occur in the week following Christmas, the shops will not have to close on December 27, the Wednesday following Christmas.

Would-Be Bus Rider Loses Out

A frolicsome kitten who wanted a free ride on the Oak Bay bus yesterday lost out, but not before it had reduced the bus driver to panting frustration, and the passengers to mirth.

The kitten got on with some passengers at Stanward Avenue. The bus driver gently placed the kitten on the sidewalk. It scampered back into the bus.

The driver tried again, this time leaving the animal on the pavement several yards behind the vehicle. He lost the race again, and three more times, before the determined kitten was left on the curb, mewing its disappointment.

Temporary Road Repairs Said Wasteful Spending

Declaring that temporary road repair work is "wasteful expenditure," Esquimalt Councillor A. C. Wurtele yesterday urged ratepayers to support that $100,000 street improvement by-law which would result in roadwork, including drainage, of a permanent nature.

The councillor, who is chairman of the public works committee, said his only regret is that the project cannot be broader in scope.

"From 1947 to 1950 an amount totalling $69,900 has been spent on temporary work on Esquimalt roads. This expenditure was unavoidable but much of it would not have been necessary if permanent work had been carried out previously. It is therefore essential that permanent roadwork be started," asserted Councillor Wurtele.

He recalled that the council in 1949 had formulated a broader plan of road construction and hoped to present a by-law when an anticipated Federal grant arrived. When the grant wasn't forthcoming, the councillor continued, it was decided to introduce a more modest plan calling for an expenditure of $100,000. This was the maximum amount to which the deputy minister of municipalities could concur.

The two main projects in the mind

NOTICE TO SAANICH ELECTORS

An election meeting will be held at the Auditorium, Mount View High School, Carey Road, on Thursday, December 14th, 1950, at 8 p.m.

CANDIDATE FOR ALDERMAN

Roy Whittle, who is well known in Victoria, is offering his services to the citizens as a candidate for alderman in the Civic Elections of December 14th. Mr. Whittle has been connected with the lumbering and logging industry in recent years and has been active in accident prevention campaigns. His youthful energy and keen understanding of the problems of our growing city will be an added asset to the City Council, Mr. Whittle is endorsed by the Civic Non-Partisan League.

Five Youths Appear in Police Court On Charges of Taking Cars in City

Five young men appeared in city police court yesterday on charges of taking vehicles without consent of the owners.

Stephen Desoba and Kenneth Kirion, naval ratings, pleaded guilty to a joint charge of taking a truck owned by Joseph Menard on Saturday night. Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded them to Wednesday for sentence.

Constable Harry Hoshal told the court the pair wrecked the truck, striking three parked cars and colliding with the steps of a Quadra Street church. Desoba was caught by a citizen, he explained, and Kirion gave himself up.

Jointly charged with taking a car without the owner's consent, Allan Edgar Todd, Frank Cross and Ivor Harold Hunt were remanded to this morning.

Hunt pleaded guilty and Todd and Cross pleaded not guilty. The car is owned by B. Ciceri, 26 Linden Avenue, and was stolen Sunday from in front of 847 Yates Street. The accused were arrested by R.C.M.P. highway patrol officers.

BREAKING AND ENTERING
"Can't you sentence me today, your honor?" asked James Jacobs, 1621 Quadra Street, who pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft at Horwood Bros. Garage, 1725 Government Street.

Magistrate Hall said he preferred to remand Jacobs to Thursday for sentence.

Constable John Burdine, who arrested Jacobs, told the magistrate of seeing the accused acting suspiciously on Cormorant Street early Sunday morning. Further investigation disclosed the garage had been entered, stated Constable Burdine, who added Jacobs had a cut hand and blood was found on the cash register.

DISMISSED
A charge of theft of $40 against Lloyd Newton, truck driver was dismissed by the magistrate. Newton was defended by James J. Proudfoot. Co-plaintiffs were Bunt
